Wheat Harvest Gets Started

First Loads Hit Town Sunday in Dead Heat

Randall County's multi-million dollar wheat crop began hitting the elevators Sunday, and it is expected that most farmers will be cutting by the end of the week.

The race for the first load almost ended in a dead heat, with two loads coming in within 15 minutes of each other. Morris Abbott brought a load to Consumers Fuel and Elevator at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. It tested 60 pounds with a moisture content of 14.40 per cent.

A load from Varl and Melvin Wagner and Alvine Wagner Frazier came in to Farmers Elevator at 2:45 p. m. Sunday. It tested 60 pounds with a moisture content of 12 per cent.

The first load at Randall County Grain and Supply elevator at Ralph Switch was brought in Monday afternoon by Bob Bryan of the Fairview Community. Bryan's wheat tested 60 pounds and 14 per cent moisture.

By Tuesday afternoon, most wheat coming in was dry with many moisture tests running 10.5 per cent.

An estimated 125,000 acres are planted in wheat in the county. The support price for the county this year is $1.79.

Yields on dryland wheat are running as high as 45 bushels per acre, although the average yield will probably be in the neighborhood of 20 to 25 bushels. This is the first year in five years that any appreciable amount of dryland wheat has been harvested.

A shortage in combines, trucks and laborers is expected when the harvest gets in full swing.

This year's wheat is coming earlier than usual, while wheat in areas to the south is later. The two loads Sunday were 18 days earlier than the first load last year.

Bob Anderson scoops wheat with his hands as a combine unloads into a truck in his wheat field south of Canyon. Anderson's 300-acre field is producing in excess of 40 bushels per acre, and the average may run above 45 bushels. He started cutting Monday.

Swimming Pool Hours, Prices Announced for This Summer

Swimming pool hours and admission prices have been announced by the city for the pool in Conner Park. The operator of the pool is Jodie Mahan, who was in that capacity last year.

Hours for public swimming will be 1:45 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday, and 1:30 p. m. to 6 p. m. on Sundays. In addition, the pool will be open from 6:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursdays for public swimming, and a teenage night will be observed from 7:30 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. on Friday.

Swimming classes will begin each weekday at 9:15 a. m. and will be continued until noon, with three sets of classes. A beginners and mothers class will be held at 1 p. m. each weekday.

The pool will be open for private parties each night, beginning at 7:30 p. m. on Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday and beginning at 9:15 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

Prices for swimming this year are 50 cents for adults, 35 cents for teenagers and 25 cents for children 12 and under. Use of the wading pool is free of charge.

Season tickets are available at the city hall. The adult price is $12, the teenage price is $10 and the children's price is $8. A family ticket, for families with four or more children, is $35.

Blaze Reaps Ripe Wheat

Triggered by the exhaust of a truck, fire reaped 250 acres of grain-heavy wheat on the R. B. Elliott farm 15 miles southeast of Canyon at noon Tuesday.

The blaze swept through the crop in about two hours, leaving only blackened, parched soil. Much of the wheat in the field was waist high before the fire hit.

Only two swaths had been cut with a combine in the field when it began to burn. Elliott said that he had not cut enough of the wheat to know what the yield would be, but estimated that it would give 40 bushels or more per acre.

The fire started about 11:30 a. m. and was under control about 1:45 p. m., although firemen stayed at the scene to battle flareups for another hour.

Elliott credited the Canyon and Happy fire departments, his neighbors and water trucks from Gilvin-

Terrill Construction Company and the Crowe-Gulde Cement Company with saving the rest of the wheat in the field. "I can't say enough nice things about them," he said.

The fire alarm was sounded in both Canyon and Happy and trucks from both places were at the scene. They were joined by hundreds of farmers, farm hands and townspeople in the fight. Nearby farmers brought plows, discs and a tractor-drawn blade to cut a fire lane around the edge.

The fire trucks and firemen went along the edge of the flaming wheat dowsing the blaze with water and other men came behind with sacks and scoops, scattering the embers and stamping out sparks.

A brisk west wind blew the fire from its starting point to the east edge of the field, where it stopped at a road. A switch in wind from the west to the south would have endangered 3000 acres of wheat and barley and another 3000 acres of grassland.

The wheat fire was started from the exhaust of a pickup truck that stopped in the tall stubble long enough to ignite the dry stalks.

Fire Chief Bill Sternberg warned that other damaging fires could be started in the same way, and asked people to stay out of the fields and especially out of fields with tall grain or stubble. He also warned about carelessness with matches and cigarettes.

The dollar loss from the fire would depend on the yield the field would have made. If the wheat was of 40-bushel quality, the loss would have been about $18,000 at the loan rate of $1.79 per bushel. A 30-bushel yield would have given a loss of roughly $13,000.

Hopper Meeting Thursday

Randall County's farmers, ranchers, gardeners, and county officials are preparing for War. This time the enemy is millions and billions of hungry grasshoppers.

They are armed with sharp teeth, huge appetites and are developing stony wings and legs for rapid maneuvering.

Like the locust hordes of Biblical days the grasshoppers are

1959 Allotment Cut by 2 Per Cent

A two-per cent cut in wheat allotments for all Randall County wheat farmers has been announced for 1959 by the Randall County ASC.

The county wheat allotment has been cut by 3,345 acres, giving the county a total of 135,556 acres for 1959. This year's allotment was 138,901 acres.

Farms which do not have a wheat allotment may be eligible to get one as a new grower, ASC office manager Doyle Thomas said. The deadline for applications is July 1.

1959 Wheat Referendum Voting Set for June 20 in Communities

Randall County wheat farmers will make an important decision when they vote June 20 in the national wheat marketing quota referendum, Doyle G. Thomas, office manager of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve quotas for the 1959 crop, Thomas explained, the 1959 wheat program will include acreage allotments, marketing quotas (with penalties on "excess" wheat) and price supports at a minimum national average of $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity.

If the quotas are not approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, but allotments will remain in effect as a means of determining eligibility for price support. The price-support rate would be about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law.

Thomas pointed out that wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments operate only in commercial wheat states — those with allotments of more than 25,000 acres. Texas has an allotment of 4,099,094 acres for the 1959 wheat crop.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum are those who will be affected by the wheat quotas if they become effective. Thus, farmers who will have 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest as grain in 1959 and those who are taking part in the 1958 feed wheat program are not eligible to cast ballots in the 1959 wheat quota referendum of June 20.

Polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. The voting boxes will be in the ASC office in Canyon, Fairview schoolhouse, Jowell community building, Umbarger gymnasium, Roy Lamb home, Wiegard Garage at Hollywood, and the C. B. Erwin home.

Price Promoted To Water Boss

Wayne Price has been promoted by the Canyon City Commission to the post of water superintendent.

The assistant superintendent replaces Glenn Sparkman, who resigned effective next Monday to accept employment with McMorries and Associates, an Amarillo consulting engineer firm.

Price has been an employee of the city since March, 1952.

Dodgers Bounce Braves, 24-2

Dodger manager, Jim Boyce, was greeted with a 24-2 win over the Braves in Monday night's Little League baseball game.

In a wild fourth inning, 15 Dodgers went to the plate, and nine hit safely. Pitcher Jim Winnery aided his winning effort with a home run. Robert Devin pitched for the Braves.

The Dodgers also took the minor league game, 11-10.

Yankee Jodie Sheets singled in the bottom of the sixth inning in Saturday night's Yankee-Dodger game to drive in two runs and give the Yanks a 6-5 victory.

Houston, Mexico Are South of Here, Too

The following is the beginning paragraph about the Santa Fe train wreck in Canyon as printed in the Monday afternoon Amarillo Globe-Times:

"Santa Fe railroad workers today were clearing wreckage along the Santa Fe right-of-way in the western edge of the edge of Canyon, south of Amarillo." The Canyon News would like to humbly suggest that if there are so many people in Amarillo who are ignorant of the location of Canyon that the Amarillo papers must say that Canyon is "south of Amarillo," the Amarillo papers should be more explicit and give the mileage. After all, Houston and Mexico City are south of Amarillo and we would not like to get mixed up with those cities.

That's Obvious

A "derail" sign standing in the midst of wreckage points out the obvious—a freight train was derailed at this point. The wreck piled up 37 cars Sunday.

Wreckage from Santa Fe Freight Train Cleared Away by Tuesday Night

Nearly a quarter of a million dollars worth of damaged freight cars wrecked in a Santa Fe freight train derailment Sunday was almost cleared away by Tuesday afternoon as cranes lifted the torn and twisted box cars onto flat cars.

The train, headed toward Amarillo, derailed and piled up shortly before 8 a. m. Sunday when an axle broke on the 46th car back of the engine. The pileup occurred alongside the Consumers Fuel and Elevator buildings, but only a few dents were made in the new metal building being built there.

Santa Fe officials estimated that $215,000 damage was suffered by the equipment. No estimate was made on the cost of goods being carried in the cars nor of the cost of trackage torn up.

The train was moving about 55 miles an hour when the axle broke. It broke as a result of a "hot box," the failure of a lubricating box and bearing to grease the axle.

Before the cars finished smashing into one another, there were 37 cars off the tracks. Included in the lading of the cars were seven cars of champagne, brandy and wines, three cars of canned foods, one car of Borax and one or borate rocks, three cars of lumber, one car of general merchandise, one tank car of coconut oil and several empty tank and box cars.

Wrecker crews from Amarillo and Clovis attacked the wreckage from both ends. Track crews from nearby towns were called to Canyon to help with trackwork and cleanup.

Traffic on the line was held up only a short time and was routed around the wreck on side tracks. The pileup destroyed about 50 yards of both the east and west bound main lines.

The Canyon Volunteer Fire Department stood by the wreckage Sunday in the event of a fire, but none broke out. Automobile traffic was routed away from the wreck scene, and police tried in vain to keep spectators away. Hundreds went to the area to get a look at the wreck.

The last large-scale Santa Fe wreck in Canyon, not nearly so large as Sunday's, occurred several years ago east of the depot. In that wreck, tank car loads of molasses were spilled and mixed with oranges from other cars.

Some of the grasshoppers in this picture are big enough to recognize, but each of the dark marks is a hopper—many are less than a quarter-inch long. These were collected on a sheet of white cardboard in a matter of minutes.

Losing Freedom of Information

(One of the things that newspapers must continually fight is the ever-growing tendency to keep from the people the information that belongs to the people. This editorial, on that subject, is from The Canadian Record.—Editor)

A Harris County grand jury at Houston a short time ago produced a recommendation that crime information be withheld from newspapers until the chief of police should authorize its release.

It would be interesting to know if the Houston grand jurors thought up this little gem all by themselves, or if, perhaps, they had a little coaching from the sidelines . . . perhaps from the Chief of Police.

We have known district attorneys and police officers who would have happily enforced such an edict, withholding information regarding arrests and court charges from newspapers, if they could have got away with it.

There were, as a matter of fact, quite a lot of this type during the Nazi regime in Germany . . . and they did get away with it . . . with results that are now written in history with blood, and marked by such monuments as the concentration camp at Dachau, among others.

We suggest that the Houston grand jurors who made this recommendation extend their investigations to Russia, where just such a system as they advocate is currently in operation . . . or if that is out of bounds, that they talk with refugees from Hungary who can tell them at first hand of the success of a police state in which arrests are concealed from the public on orders by chiefs of police.

The police state, of course, eliminates the need for grand juries and grand jurors. Police chiefs who have the authority to conceal arrests have no need for grand juries to tell them who may be held for crimes and who may not.

Thank You, Mam

All of Canyon thanks you for this letter, Mary Prutzman, and we're glad you sent it to the Plainview Herald where it was published.

"I have lived in Plainview all of my life; but only after attending WTSC, which has a reputation for being friendly, have I realized what an UNFRIENDLY town Plainview is. In Canyon, not only at the college, but even in town, the residents are friendly and pleasant. Here in Plainview I have spoken to scores of people, most of whom are ADULTS, and rarely have I gotten even so much as a second look! Does it really hurt so much to speak to people on the street? What Plainview needs is a "Be Kind to Strangers on the Street Week!"

"Thank you for this opportunity for letting off steam."

Good Flag Plan

The Canyon Jaycees are making a good point with their plan for supplying and servicing U. S. flags for Canyon businessmen. As explained to us, the plan is not expensive at all, and it will provide a needed service.

Maybe you have the same problem we do. We have a flag, but the hole in the sidewalk is much too big for the pole and won't hold the flag up. And what's more, the hole is usually filled with dirt.

And, naturally, we never get our flag out in front of the place on the days when we should.

But the Jaycees have an answer. They plan to put pipes in the sidewalk, put caps on to keep the dirt out, and their flagpoles will be the right size for the holes. They plan to purchase the flags and will put them up and take them down on the correct holidays — all for a slight service charge.

Jaycee representatives will be around to see you. Give their plan a good study then don't turn them down.

What We Need

(From the Charleston, S. C., News & Courier)

Once upon a time, according to a newspaper legend, a publisher sent out word that too many cliches were getting into the paper. (A cliché, we explain for the benefit of readers who have not yet reached that word in school, is an over-worked expression of speech.)

The managing editor told his staff, "The boss says we've got to get rid of those old cliches and work up some new ones."

We nominate for retirement in the everyday speech of Americans the following:

You can say that again . . . Brother, you've had it . . . You name it . . . Now you're in business . . . But definitely.

What this country needs, brother, is a new set of cliches. And you can say that again. Ideas, anybody?

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

"The wickedest city in the world"—such was the description that newspaper feature-story writers bestowed on Borger, in the Texas Panhandle, back in 1926. Crime was more rampant there than in any other boom town in the history of Texas. Nearness of boundaries of other States caused criminals to jump back and forth over the lines like small boys playing leap-frog.

Gangs would loot a bank in Oklahoma, dodge over into the Panhandle oil fields to be swallowed up in the swirl of thousands of strange faces; then they would pull a bank robbery in Texas and duck back into the Sooner State oil fields.

Borger's jail consisted of a big room; down the middle ran a long chain to which the prisoners were handcuffed. The police force consisted of 33 men and, even so, conditions became so flagrant that Governor Dan Moody sent Texas Rangers, 10 of them, including Capt. Frank Hamer and Tom Hickman, into the area; and, still later, the governor declared martial law, and 114 officers and men of the National Guard moved in for a short time.

Just a few of the stirring incidents of the boom days: The night police chief and another man were fatally wounded in a gun-battle on Main Street; during a filling station holdup, two masked bandits shot a woman and, as she lay dying, her husband and her little son, as well as four other persons, were held at bay; in a gunfight in the oil fields, two deputies were killed and a suspect was declared to have participated in a $35,000 Pampa bank robbery.

After a disastrous fire, 12 buildings lay in ruins and 15 men were in jail because of looting that included the smashing of a jewelry store window and the theft of $2,000 in diamonds. In a fire one night, a man burned to death and another was shot—yes, shot! Those who discovered the flames ran out in the street shouting to arouse the town and a stray bullet wounded a driller.

A masked bandit entered a theater through a rear window and, pointing a rifle, ordered the assistant manager to hold up his hands. Instead, he broke through a door and ran into the audience, shouting "Police! police!" That ended the robbery attempt and almost broke up the show.

The climaxing crime was the assassination of the district attorney as he was closing the garage at his home one night, the slayer being concealed in the shadow of a nearby, unoccupied house.

But there was much on the constructive side in Borger's story. The city was founded by A. P. (Ace) Borger, who had been in the real estate business in Oklahoma, and by John R. Miller, attorney, who became the first mayor. From a bare space on the wind-swept plains, 20 miles from a railroad, the new town grew until, in a short time, it had 25,000 inhabitants and, when its first birthday was celebrated, twice that number viewed the parade.

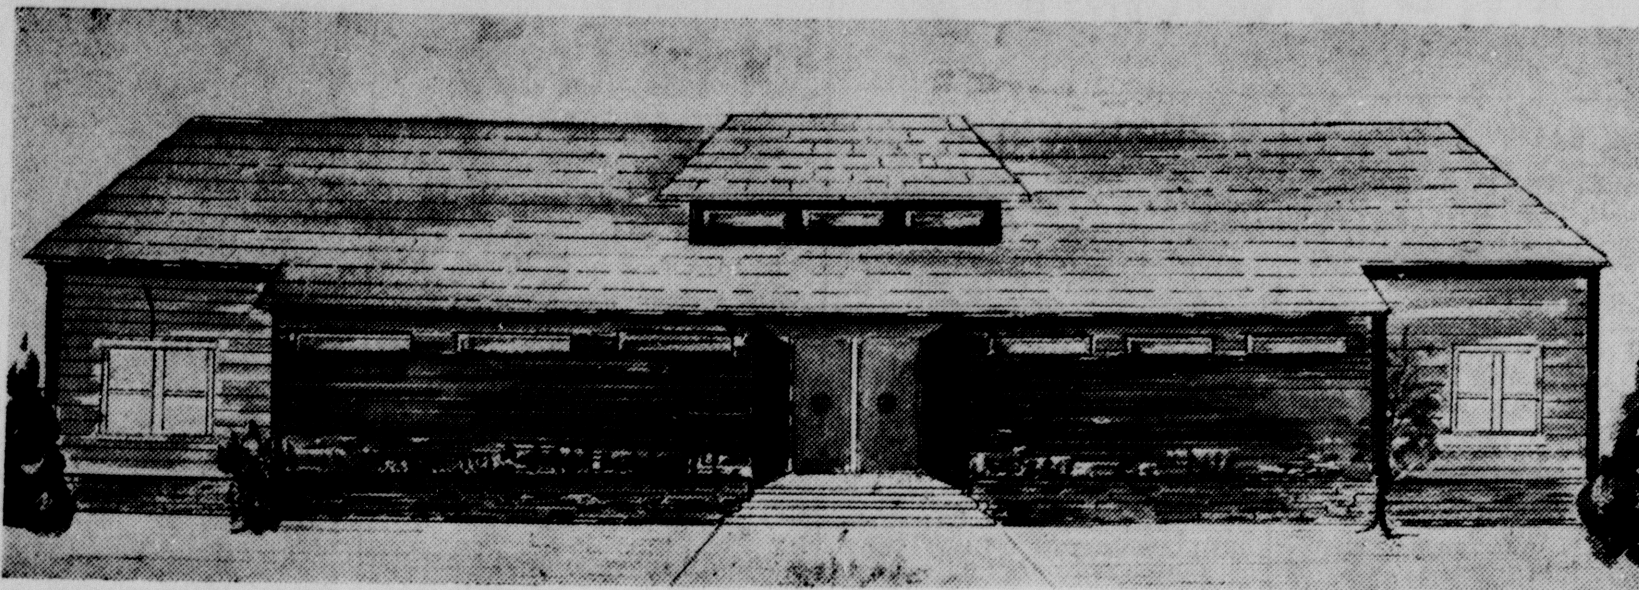

The newly-arrived railroad handled an average of 500 cars of freight a day. The main street that sprang up on both sides of the highway was almost two miles of frame buildings, with here and there a more substantial structure. Traffic was so heavy that a pedestrian could almost keep pace with the crawling trucks.

"The wonder city of the nation," its citizens proclaimed Borger, and they related the story of two friends meeting in Amarillo. One asked, "When was the last time you were in Borger?" The other said, "Day before yesterday." His friend replied, "Well, you wouldn't know the place now."

ASC Loan Rates Set for Crops

Randall County loan rates for wheat, barley and oats have been announced by the ASC office.

The wheat rate will be $1.79 per bushel, netting farmers about $1.65 per bushel if stored in a public warehouse. The rate is 22 cents below the loan rate for 1957.

The barley rate is 97 cents per bushel, or two cents higher than last year. The rate should net farmers about 83 cents a bushel.

The rate for oats will be 69 cents, the same as last year, and will net farmers about 59 cents per bushel.

The county rate for rye has not been announced, but ASC office manager Doyle G. Thomas said it would probably be about $1.09 per bushel.

Senseless vandalism did minor damage to one of Canyon's pumphouses last weekend. The vandals carefully threw large rocks through each of the eight panes in windows on two sides of the building, but didn't complete the job—they failed to break the 12 panes in the double door. Luckily, none of the rocks hit the electrical control mechanism inside, nor the pump or motor. The pump was running over the weekend.

Roy Harris Attends Texas Boys State

Roy Harris is attending the American Legion Boys State in Austin this week as a "citizen" from Canyon.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harris, he is sponsored at Boys State by American Legion Post 97 and the Canyon Lions and Rotary clubs. All expenses are paid by the sponsoring organizations.

Boys State is conducted on the campus of the University of Texas and is a plan to educate the youth of the state in the ways of American citizenship. Each "citizen" acts in a capacity of an officer of the state or some political subdivision.

FOWL EMPLOYMENT

Charles had just returned from a visit to the country, where he had assisted in the performance of the farm chores. One responsibility of the youngster was to gather the eggs and mark each with the date it had been laid.

"Well, Charles," father inquired, "how did you like the farm?"

"Very well, father," the boy replied, "except I didn't care very much about being secretary to a bunch of old hens."

PRETTY, PLEASE

"So you've bought an automobile, have you? Do you drive it or does your wife drive it?"

"Neither of us drive it. We coax it."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Farmers interested in starting work on a complete plan on their farm should contact the SCS technicians in the Randall County courthouse. The technicians will gladly discuss the plan and how to put it in effect with any interested farmer.

Now that the Great Plains Conservation Program is in effect it is easy to start work on a complete soil and water conservation program. The Great Plains Conservation Program offers cost-share assistance ranging from 50 to 80 per cent of the cost of the practices required on your plan.

The complete plan on your farm is jointly agreed upon between yourself and the SCS. The plan has to meet certain specifications approved by the SCD board and the Soil Conservation Service.

There are two Great Plains contracts in operation in Randall County at the present time. These plans were written on a three year basis. After the three year period these two farms will have a complete soil and water conservation system installed.

"My family likes soups and stews. The electric deep well cooker makes it easy for me to give them what they like!"

SAYS
Mrs. Cecil Allf,
1824 ORANGE,
AMARILLO, TEXAS

★ "The deep well cooker is so wonderful for making soups and stews that it's not surprising it does a wonderful job sterilizing baby's bottles. This is a new use that the Public Service Home Service Advisor told me about when I first got my electric range."

"I've found it's economical and practical to prepare soups and stews in large quantities in the deep well cooker and then freeze part for later use. There just seems to be no limit to the things you can do with an electric range."

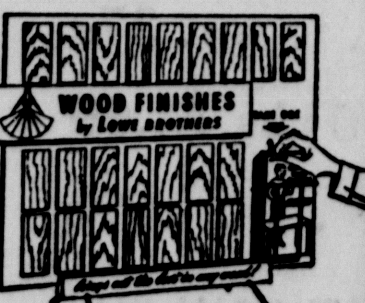

"Thanks to the dependability of electric cooking, I can set my range to cook while I'm out. I love to entertain and with people in the house, I'm not tied down to the kitchen. I just let Reddy take over. So, in or out of the house, Reddy makes a good, silent, non-complaining servant."

Let Reddy be your servant, too. See your Reddy Kilowatt dealer for an electric range demonstration. He'll give you a certificate good for two bug lamps, which is ordinary sockets, eliminate most of the light that insects see, yet provide a soft comfortable light for outdoor living.

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Political Parties—Two or Twenty?

For a number of years it has been argued in this country that there is a need for more political parties or a complete realignment of the two controlling political parties which we now have. Some argue that there is a definite need for a third party to counteract certain philosophies now present in both the Republican and Democratic.

Others argue that we need a complete realignment of the two major parties so that the so-called conservatives will all be in one party and the so-called liberals will all be in the other. Still others argue that we need a group of political parties—each representing a particular political philosophy—in order to have a true expression of sentiment on a pure democratic basis.

I discuss this matter at this time because I feel that much history is being written at the present time in France concerning this particular issue. The tragic political difficulties in France did not come as a surprise to students of politics.

The surprise was that France had been able to avert the present crisis for so long. The 4th Republic was built on political sand. It would seem that the architects of that Republic concerned themselves too much with the philosophy that everyone be allowed to do as they pleased with a total disregard as to how such action might interfere with the rights of others and create a chaotic conflict that would result in complete impotency of France as a nation.

Instead of two or three well-balanced political parties with the strength to fully debate issues, to provide for the bringing about of a final decision, and for the subsequent enforcement of that decision, France found herself with a large number of splinter parties made up of subscribers to every conceivable philosophy known to mankind. The governing body—The National Assembly and the Senate—became infiltrated with these different groups, some of which would be joined by lesser groups in political issues that came up. The result was that France had a government in name only.

It had a parliament in which all of the issues could be thoroughly debated, but in which no final decision could be made with any degree of potency. Under the circumstances, the government was wholly impotent insofar as enforcing any controversial decisions.

France floundered for a number of years under this loosely knitted scheme of things, and the 4th Republic was able to survive only because of help from French allies including its major benefactor, the United States. However, I feel that the situation which has developed over recent years in France has made a major contribution to the science of government.

The advance of civilization has been by trial and error. The political situation in France has furnished us with a most valuable source of information on governmental questions.

I think that it has definitely proved the merit of our system in this country of two major political parties, with both parties being well-balanced, and counting among the membership of each, students of divergent political views. A system by which issues can be threshed out, thoroughly considered and acted upon.

A system wherein Independents are free to move into either party or to cast their votes solely as independents. And probably most important, a system wherein the possibility of the military taking over is at a minimum.

"I Cut 2,190 Tons of Ensilage From 104 Acres of Maize"

Leo Bezner, Bushland, Tex., says: "I put down 80 pounds of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia pre-plant on 104 acres of irrigated maize land. I cut 2,190 tons of ensilage, or slightly more than 21 tons per acre. I use Phillips 66 Ammonia to help increase yields on all my cash crops."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that the 82% nitrogen in top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them to get more profit per acre, through higher yields and lower production costs.

They have found that, by using Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin; yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased; more marketable vegetables are harvested, and profits on wheat are increased through better forage, and higher yields of grain.

Two Famous Band Directors Coming

Two nationally known college band directors will join the staff of instruction for the sixth annual West Texas Music Camp, Aug. 4-15 at West Texas State College.

They are Dr. Ronald D. Gregory, director of bands at the University of Indiana, and James Kerr, director of bands at the University of Wichita.

Also slated to join the camp faculty are Mrs. Bonnie Williams, twirling instructor at Holmes Junior College in Goodman, Miss., and J. W. King Jr., director of bands in the Hale Center public schools.

About 300 high school musicians from throughout the Panhandle area usually attend the camp, which features two weeks of concentrated band, choral, and twirling instruction. A limited number of enrollments are taken to assure maximum attention to individual students.

The camp's director is David L. Kaplan, assistant professor of music, who has been acting head of WT's department during the spring. Dr. Ted Cragger of Lubbock, who will become chairman of the college's music department this fall, will assist Kaplan, and three other West Texas State music faculty members will be instructors. They are Dr. Houston Bright, A Cappella Choir director, Matilda Gaume, assistant professor who will teach piano, and Royal Brantley, assistant professor, who will coach voice and vocal ensemble.

Four bands and a choir will be organized among camp students. The bands are Symphonic, Concert, Junior High, and a Reading Band.

The Symphonic Band, to be directed by Dr. Gregory, will include the best camp musicians, selected by audition. Kerr's Concert Band will include high school musicians, and the Junior High Band, conducted by King, will be made up of students below the 10th grade in school.

Kaplan will teach and coach woodwinds, and Dr. Cragger will instruct students in brass. The Reading Band will include college students and camp musicians on a volunteer basis to read and demonstrate new band materials.

Students attending the camp will spend most of the day in sectional rehearsals, individual lessons, and band rehearsals. A number of classes for fun are to be organized, and other classes include drum majoring, marching, drill, conducting, and theory.

Several courses in band techniques will be offered for visiting band directors for college credit, and a number of seminars for directors and teachers in woodwinds and brass will be given.

Tomlinson-Wilkinson Wed Friday

In a candlelight ceremony before a satin draped altar at the First Methodist Church, nuptial vows were read for Nancy Kay Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tomlinson of Canyon, and Bob Leroy Wilkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Wilkinson of Canyon, at 8 p. m. Friday. The double ring ceremony was read by Bob Wear, minister of the Central Church of Christ, before the altar, which was backed by a large pyramid arrangement of white gladiola and banks of seven - bracht candelabra, spaced alternately with tiers of emerald and jade foliage.

Flanking the central arrangement were spiral candelabra and two-tiered fountain arrangements of white gladiola and another bank of seven-bracht candelabra. The extreme edges of the chancel were marked with jade and emerald palms and matching fountain arrangements of white gladiola. To complete the floral background, the choir rail and the communion rails were draped with pleated white satin accented with smilax garlands.

The bridal aisle was marked with three branch candelabra with smilax garlands and the traditional aisle cloth.

Mrs. Glenn Dowlen of Canyon, organist, played "If I Could Tell You" by Firestone; "Because" by D'Hardelot; "To A Wild Rose" by MacDowell; "A Perfect Love" by Burleigh; "Through the Years" by Yeumans; "I Love You Truly" by Brande; "Claire de Lune" by Debussy; "Cara Mio Beu" by Gior-dani and "I Love Thee" by Greig. Eddie Joe Foster, Lubbock, read "How Do I Love Thee" by Elizabeth Browning. Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr., Canyon, sang "With These Hands" and "The Lord's Prayer." The prie diu was used during the final prayer.

Wearing identical white lace and chiffon dresses, the candlelighters, Mrs. Don Wells and Barbara Bacon, both of Canyon, carried candles and nosegays. Maids-of-honor Kay Golden of Lockney and Theora Hollingsworth of Sweetwater, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Foster Parker of Lubbock, Suzie Eastwood of Fort Worth, Diane Prichard and Wanda Rogers, both of Canyon, were identically attired.

They wore dresses styled with a bodice of soft, gathered chiffon over lace and festooned with a bow in the back and with bouffant skirts of yellow lace. They wore hats of yellow lace and chiffon shaped like small picture hats. Carrying cascade arrangements of pale yellow gladiolas, the attendants also wore white earrings, kid gloves and yellow shoes.

Ricky Hales of Canyon, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer, and Cherri Lynn Williams of Happy, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was white embroidered organdy over yellow taffeta.

Ushers were Kenneth Williams of Happy and Richmond Hales of Canyon, brothers-in-law of the bride. Groomsmen were George Greiner of Canyon, Jody Coker of Amarillo, Cecil Irwin of Matar-dor and J. T. Hill of Canadian. Best men were Clifford Baker of Darrouzett and Joe Black of Borger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Emily gown of antique white bridal satin cut on princess lines, with a deep yoke and long fitted sleeves of shirred nylon net that came to a point above the wrists. The yoke and bodice were joined with a band of imported Point De Lyons lace, repeated where the full skirt joined the bodice. The lace extended the length of the skirt and on either side of the cathedral train.

Her fingertip veil of imported nylon English illusion, with a hand-rolled edge, was attached to a Point De Lyons lace cloche studded with rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a hand-made lace handkerchief which, along with the wedding gown, had been used at the weddings of the bride's two sisters.

The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids accented with lilies of the valley. Small leaves fashioned of bridal lace and white satin streamers tied with love knots completed the bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tomlinson wore a sheath dress of Bisque pink silk organza, with chantilly lace accented with a back drape, matching accessories and a pink duchess rose corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose a champagne lace over taffeta suit, with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's table, laid with a floor-length Swiss organdy cloth on yellow, was centered with silver candelabra and an arrangement of white peonies. The punch and guest book tables were also laid with Swiss organdy.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. J. B. Roberts, Mrs. Bill Sternberg, Mrs. E. H. Wright, Mrs. K. L. Pond, Mrs. Robert McClendon, Mrs. Larry Griffin, Charlotte Crain and Virginia Leake, all of Canyon; Mrs. J. D. Singleton of Amarillo and Mrs. E. J. Foster of Lubbock.

For the wedding trip to Miami, Fla., and Nassau, and back by Kansas City, Mo., the bride wore a charcoal-and-white, three piece silk Adele suit and accessories of white hat and white kid gloves. Other accessories were black patent shoes and bag and charcoal jewelry. She wore an orchid corsage.

After June 28, the couple will make their home at 107 21st St., Canyon.

The bride was graduated from Canyon High School and has completed her sophomore year this spring at Texas Technological College in Lubbock, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. She will continue her studies this fall at West Texas State College.

The bridegroom, also a Canyon High graduate, is in his senior year as a pre-law student at WT. He is president of Tau Tau Tau fraternity and has served as vice president of the Texas Inter-Collegiate Student Association. He is employed as a solicitor for Blackwell Insurance Agency.

Joyce Hill Home - But Not Long

Joyce Hill, daughter of George Hill of Canyon, is home again after spending three years in Cuba as a Methodist missionary, but only briefly. Tomorrow she leaves for church conferences in Indiana, Arkansas and San Antonio, returning about July 6.

Miss Hill, who received her M.A. degree from George Peabody College May 30, has been teaching English to youngsters at a Methodist school in Cienfuegos, Cuba.

Flashing a smile, Miss Hill said, "I was supposed to be teaching English, but it was mostly a job of teaching them what they needed to know about anything."

Three other Americans were at the Cienfuegos school, which differed from the rural Cuban schools in that the missionaries were not concerned so much with furnishing physical necessities to the students. One of the Americans was the director of the school, and the other two taught high school English.

Miss Hill will return to Cuba for the fall term, but doesn't know where she will be stationed. She expected to be stationed in Santiago de Cuba but officials have warned against starting anything in Santiago until the Cuban rebellion is settled.

The split between Dictator Batista and rebel leader Castro has brought wide differences between the Cuban people but the strict government censorship has forced the people to be silent.

The school was not bothered too much by the rebels.

"It's just a rebellion against government," Miss Hill said.

We're not quite happy about this new radio pill. Although it does cut out the occasional need for swallowing a tube to find out what's gone wrong on the inside, it's a much sneakier invasion of privacy. Less painful, but unfair.

How does it work? Well, we swallow the pill and a doctor or a lab assistant stands by with a receiving set. She — or worse, he — then gets radio signals from the interior as this insidious little transistor-type satellite pokes around, sounding out pressures and what not. In other words, he gets the message fast and sure.

Apparently, the marvels of science will never cease. Of course, this newest discovery asks a medical man to turn ham radio operator at the drop of a capsule. And it asks a woman with a horse-and-buggy philosophy to allow her rather old-fashioned innards to be subjected to a most complex and highly scientific type of scrutiny. She has no assurance that her stomach and intestines, which can remember coal oil lamps and outdoor plumbing, will react properly to this efficient little scout of tomorrow. Indeed, they may set up muscular contractions and pressures that weren't even there when the swallowing took place.

And what if the miniature radio goes haywire? What's that going to do to the report from inner space? We don't want to let emotional loyalty crowd out good common sense here, but we still have more confidence in our insides than in gadgetized medicine. And if it comes to a showdown our own intestines and a man-made capsule investigator, we're going to have to stand by an old friend.

We may eventually come to it, but right now we plan to resist any such sputnik explorations.

Clean-Up of a Train Wreck Is Speeded With Modern Machinery, Aids

Fully-equipped wrecker trains are ready to move on short notice in the yards at division points, and in a matter of practically travelling time are on the job at the scene of a train wreck. Two wrecker trains, one from Amarillo and one from Clovis, tackled the job of cleaning up the wreck in Canyon Sunday morning, and a track was in use not too long afterward. The cranes lift the cars off the track area and push them aside. Bulldozers help by pushing debris aside and smooth the roadbed. The wrecker train carries 33-foot sections of track—rails already spiked to ties—which are unloaded on top of the good track and pulled by bulldozer to the place they are needed. As a section of roadbed is made ready, trackworkers settle the new section of track in place and bolt it together. The first consideration is to get trains moving again, and in the wreck here, a spur track to the Consumers elevator was fixed up with new sections and hooked into the main line—and trains ran by the pile of wreckage before it was cleared away.

Speed Production Shortens Reflection

Trying to get his anniversary productions ready in a short time has left William Angus Moore little opportunity to reflect back on the 10 years of Summer Theatre for West Texas State College's Palo Duro Players.

One show just completed, and another due to open June 18 has kept the Branding Iron Theatre director, his wife, Margaret Echols Moore, and Robert L. Antrim, technical director, so busy they haven't thought of celebrating.

Despite the lack of acknowledgement, however, the Palo Duro Players are celebrating the tenth anniversary of summer work on the WT campus. Their first play, a comedy, "The Tender Trap," has been wrapped up, and a mystery, "A Dash of Bitters," is next—opening at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday and continuing through Saturday.

"We plan about three more shows this summer," Moore said. "There will be one more this six weeks, and two the last six weeks of summer school."

Though no definite dates have been set, one play will be given the last week in July, for the annual Reading Conference, and another will be presented while the West Texas Music Camp is in progress, Aug. 4-16.

While Mr. and Mrs. Moore are vitally interested in using their productions to assist students in learning acting and directing techniques, they are also interested in presenting good entertainment for the public. One unique feature about the Palo Duro Players—they come back year after year, to take part.

Because the players, "between jobs, and babies, and traveling on vacations," come back to help out with the shows, there is always ample talent and "seasoning" to make the shows more than amateur productions.

One man, L. R. Reeves of Mobeetie, superintendent of schools there, returned so many times that he was better known as an actor than as a schoolman. Some students, like Jerry Williams and Bobby Vandergriff of Canyon, were on the Branding Iron stage before they acquired their permanent teeth, and they still come back to play everything from bit parts to the leading roles.

"That's the nice thing about our BIT work," says Marty Hinson of Groom. "One week you have a leading role, and the next you are dragging scenery around. We learn about all there is to know about theatre."

Summer theatre at WT really got started a year before the 1949 season, which the Moores recognize as the Palo Duro Players' beginning. In 1948, two plays were tried out for early summer. They were "Nine Girls," and a religious drama, "The Rock," which was given to honor retiring President J. A. Hill.

"I was really surprised that summer nights could be so pleasant in the Panhandle," said Moore. "We decided that the next year we would really try to sell summer work."

Five shows were produced that first summer, with the then-very-popular, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" as the first one given. All of the plays were presented just two nights—Wednesdays and Thursdays—"to avoid the weekend exodus of students."

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" was the second show of the Players, followed by "The Little Foxes," "The Importance of Being Earnest," and "The Late Christopher Bean." Moore was director, assisted by his wife, and with Dr. Wendell Cain as technical director.

For the first two years the Players' shows were given in the Education Building auditorium. Moore said that very good crowds were enjoyed the first year, though the "biggest box office we have ever had was in 1952, when Mrs. Moore directed 'Kiss and Tell'." The second best box office was "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the first summer show.

Just before the second year, 1950, Moore was invited to play Robert Browning in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" in Waco, and he left the directing at home to Mrs. Moore. She opened with "George Washington Slept Here," and her second show was "Stage Door."

The Moores continued directing the Players each summer, until 1954, when Moore took a leave of absence to study toward a doctorate at the University of Michigan. In 1954 and 1955, Jennings Flathers of Amarillo High School directed WT's Summer Theatre, although the Moores produced the

Mrs. M. T. Maddux Elected Club Prexy

Mrs. M. T. Maddux was elected president of the Westside Home Demonstration Club for 1958 as the group met June 4 in the home of Mrs. R. O. McKay.

Other officers elected were Mrs. J. T. Brown, vice president; Mrs. Lewis Tuck, secretary; Mrs. Dick Barrett, reporter; Mrs. Lewis Harvey, council delegate and Mrs. Ray Metcalf, card and gift chairman.

Mrs. Ed Bourn read a civil defense article and led the group of 14 members and four visitors in a discussion on civil defense.

Instead of sponsoring a bake sale to raise money for the club, members donated money.

With club meetings discontinued for the summer, the next meeting will not be until Sept. 3 in the Lewis Harvey home.

Col. Goodnight's Saddle Given To Museum by Mrs. Cleo Hubbard

The saddle on which Charles Goodnight rode when he became the first ranchman to enter the Texas Panhandle to establish a ranch, has been donated to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Silver-mounted and with tapaderos (brush guards on the stirrups), the saddle was believed to have been presented to Goodnight by a Mexican government official sometime prior to his cattle drive into the Palo Duro Canyon in the fall of 1875.

The museum here acquired the saddle from Mrs. Cleo Hubbard of Goodnight, who was given the saddle by the old rancher in 1926, "who told her to use it," according to C. Boone McClure, museum director.

Made in the Texas style by F. M. Stern of San Jose, Calif., the saddle has eight silver tips, each with the initials, "C. G." carved in flowing script letters. When it was brought to the museum for display, the tapaderos had been laced out of the way, and shorter stirrups had been added for Mrs. Hubbard.

Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, curator of art for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, had visited Goodnight years ago to sketch the saddle. The sketch appears in J. Everts Haley's biography of Goodnight, "Charles Goodnight, Cowman and Plainsman."

The saddle also appears in Bugbee's large mural of Goodnight taking his herd into the Palo Duro Canyon to establish the Panhandle's first ranch. The painting, along with many other Bugbee murals, hangs in the museum.

Site of Goodnight's ranch house, which burned in 1907, has been marked by Newton Harrell on Harrell's ranch near Claude. The Goodnight ranch became known as the J. A. after the old trail-blazer became associated with the Adair family.

'Dash of Bitters' To Chill Audience At Second Summer Theatre Play

One of those British psychological chillers, "A Dash of Bitters," by Reginald Denham and Conrad Smith, will be the second production of the Summer Theatre season for the Palo Duro Players at West Texas State College.

The murder mystery, featuring a cast of four, will open June 18 at 8:15 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theatre. Performances will be given four nights, through Saturday. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Directors William A. and Margaret Echols Moore have chosen three veteran actors and a newcomer for the tension-filled drama. Margaret Glenn of Amarillo will be the mentally-unbalanced spinster, Muriel Whitlock, a perfectionist who resorts to devious means to keep her ward, Virginia, at home. The girl, whom the spinster has raised, has high hopes of winning an art scholarship. She is played by Rae June Hamilton, also of Amarillo.

John Lee Walton of Pampa, who teaches speech in Lefors, will appear as Ricky Vidal, a young, charming Latin American who claims to be Muriel's nephew. A lawyer, who is interested in Virginia, is played by Jack Reynolds of Stillwater, Okla., who attended and graduated from White Deer

High School. He appears as Matthew Fenn.

The three-act drama was adapted by Denham, author of such long-time hits as "Ladies in Retirement," from a story, "The Perfectionist." It was first produced in Dallas by Margo Jones, and later at the Berkshire Playhouse.

In the story, Virginia hopes to leave home and go to Rome to study art, and Muriel, the middle-aged spinster, is very set against Virginia's leaving. When the girl finishes a statue, which she is sure will win her a scholarship, the old maid pretends to encourage her leaving. When the two leave for church, Muriel slips back home and smashes the statue, and Virginia's hopes are smashed, too. But the destruction was witnessed by Ricky Vidal, and the young Latin American juggles the two women against each other, seeking to gain Muriel's money.

The perfectionist is shown in Muriel when it is revealed that she has sketched an apple 47 times and is still not satisfied with her art work. Ricky presents her with some goldfish to sketch, but since they do not remain still, the old maid freezes them in the refrigerator.

The tension mounts as the old maid seeks to keep Ricky and Virginia with her, and Ricky wants to get her money and leave with Virginia. Which of the two antagonists wins and what the final outcome is, cannot be given away.

June Dedicated To Dairy Industry

June — Dairy Month — has been the object of much advertising and publicity. This has been done in a real effort to get people to realize the importance of milk and dairy products in their diets.

This idea of a Dairy Month is not entirely new, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman. It got its start 20 years ago when the National Dairy Council sponsored a Dairy Week.

Many organizations now cooperate in sponsoring this activity that has now grown into June Dairy Month. Dairy plant handlers, producers, and educational groups cooperate and coordinate their efforts in its promotion.

Dairy products are valuable for their nutritional contents, points out Meekma. They are high in calcium, vitamins, fortified calories and protein. Adults should get at least a pint of milk a day. Children need one and one-half pints to a quart, and teen-agers should have a quart or more every day.

Of course, it is not necessary to consume all this as plain milk, he says. Much of it can be eaten or drunk in other forms, such as cheese, cottage cheese, and ice cream. Too, many family dishes from soups to desserts contain milk.

Dairy Month has been set aside to emphasize the essential nutrients contained in milk and dairy products and their need and value in human diets, Meekma says.

New Insect Guide Now Available

A good home garden can be a source of much pleasure and reducer to the family food budget. But both the pleasure and saving can be greatly reduced by harmful insects if proper control is not exercised, say Texas extension entomologists.

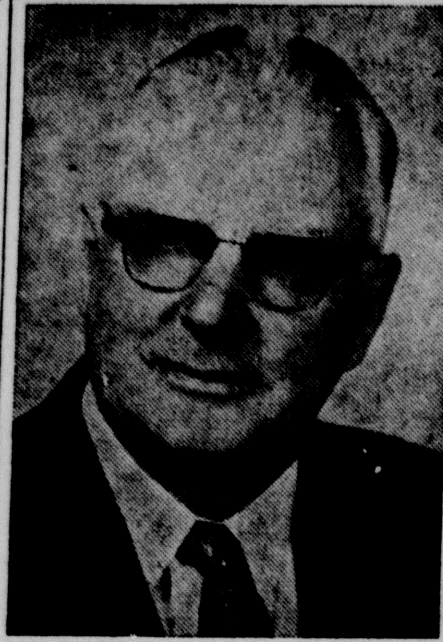

With few exceptions, vegetable insect control is a preventive program. Control measures should begin before insects appear in damaging numbers. Dusts and sprays, in most instances, are equally effective.

A new leaflet has been released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entitled "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Vegetable Crops." It has a thorough rundown on insects that might harm almost any vegetable crop. It includes information on home garden mixtures, methods of application and precautions and contains a chart outlining a dust or spray program for controlling vegetable insects.

This leaflet should prove most helpful to all home gardeners. It can be obtained from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for L-255.

Weather Calls for Changes in Garden

It is time to change rose fungicides for disease control. Sulfur compounds used in cool weather can cause burns in hot weather, says Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist.

For black spot control, he says to change to captan, zineb or maneb, and for powdery mildew control to Karathane or Miltex. Applications should be made each week especially during rainy weather.

Smith says to avoid wetting the foliage when watering the lawn or roses and that spraying will give better control than dusting. A spreader sticker should be used with the spray for best results.

Black spot is characterized by large, roundish, black spots with irregular or frayed margins. The spots may occur on either or both surfaces of the leaves, and frequently develop unnoticed on the soft twigs and branches, and also on the leaf stems. When severely infected, the leaves may turn yellow and drop off. This weakens the plants and makes them more susceptible to dieback, drought and winter injury. It also results in smaller flowers that are weak in color and fragrance.

Powdery mildew is characterized by a white, powdery coating that occurs on the leaves, buds and young stems. Immature leaves may be curled, distorted and light in color.

Reviewer Sees 'Tender Trap' as Fine Trap for Theater Season Opener

"The Tender Trap" seemed an ideal trap to capture an audience for the opening show of the tenth anniversary season of the Palo Duro Players.

This comedy by Max Shulman and Robert Paul Smith was an important Broadway play and motion picture recently, so William and Margaret Moore can be admired for starting off a new season with the very best.

Ramiro Garcia, playing the role done by Frank Sinatra in the motion picture version, was an ideal choice for the role of Charlie Reader, a bachelor newly arrived in a heaven that only he could appreciate. Girls, all beautiful ladies, bring him food, make his beds, pick him up for the dates, and generally go "goo goo" over him until we have a high comedy situation of a "nice" heel on the loose.

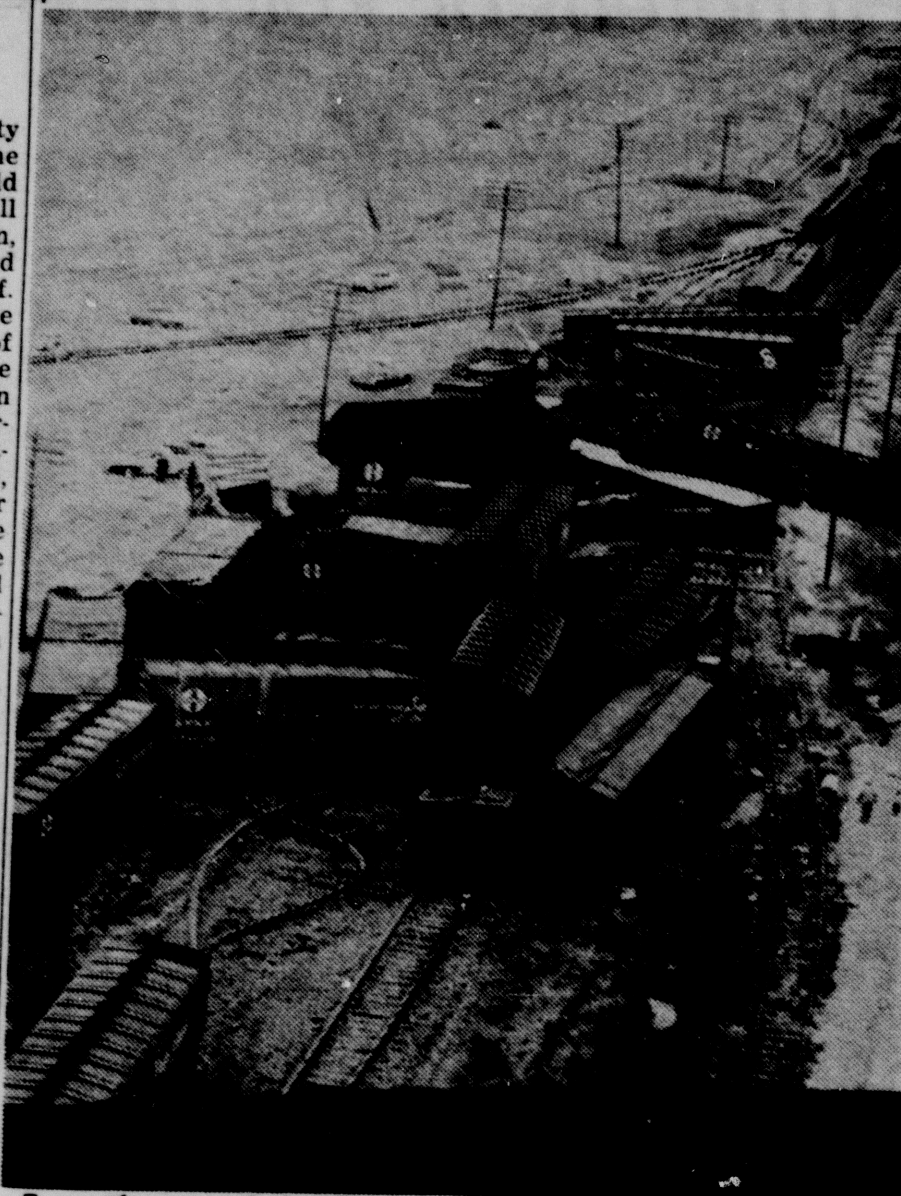

Well, if his friend Joe, played by Bill Stokes, can't straighten him out without being influenced, the girls can, and did, with rushes of comedy that kept the Branding Iron flushed with laughter. Mr. Garcia raises his eyebrows, stifles moans, stumbles over his empty engagement party bottles with the charm that even The Voice would bow to, and certainly admire. Bill Stokes, playing the straight man, turned it into something more and received plenty of laughs himself.

Of course, the girls are the things, and there were plenty of them. Verdi Knox, brought to the attention of theatre audiences in "The Importance Of Being Earnest," has developed into a first-rate actress. For the first time, Verdi is allowed to do a character unlike anything she has ever done before. Usually she is cast as the loud-mouth aunt over forty in loud clothes. This time she is an attractive young girl looking for a husband, and she is splendid.

Helen Perry, nominee this year for best actress for her strenuous work in "The House Of Berarda Alba," switched from tragedy to comedy with poise. Miss Perry did not try to imitate Debbie Reynolds, who did the film, and wisely so, I think. Mr. Garcia, despite his youth, would hardly give up his bachelor days for a "cute" kid. Miss Perry was more. She gave stature to parts that other actresses would pass over or ham.

Marty Hinson, one of BIT's ablest actresses, and this year's winner of best actress, joined hands with this year's best supporting actress, Roberta Hickman, for some of the best scenes in the whole play.

Miss Hinson, big-eyed and beautifully dressed in a creation of her own hand, pranced in and out with skill. Miss Hickman, last seen as the teacher in "The Desperate Hours," was "chahmin" as the Southern girl.

She put Marlon Brando to shame with her accent, and her line of "Ti-g-e-e" did as much for her as it did for another Panhandle girl, Carolyn Jones, who did the movie role.

Tom Culpepper and James Hinkley, best described as characters from another world, added their talents to the first summer offering. William A. and Margaret Moore, two people that can work together with results, added another delightful comedy to their list of star-hits. With only a few days to turn out a play, they bent backs and schedules and turned out a fine and enjoyable hit.

Robert Antrim's set, a clever, gay bachelor's apartment, added color, and made this first attraction a trap not easily forgotten. —Gary Walker.

Summer Comfort

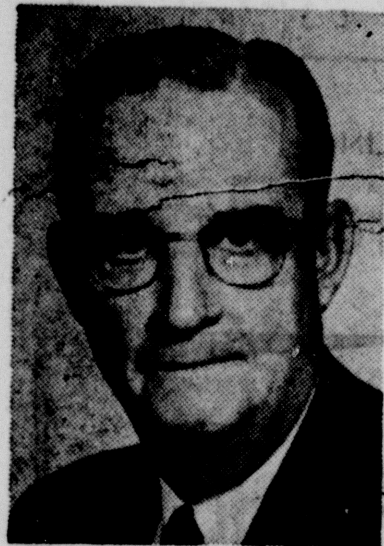

During coming months Texans will ponder and argue the wisdom of adopting sweeping changes in election procedures.

If adopted, the changes recommended by Gov. Price Daniel would alter campaign procedures more drastically than anything since the Terrill election law became effective over a half century ago.

Governor Daniel's proposals are (1) to abolish precinct conventions and, instead, elect county convention delegates at the first primary and (2) to hold primaries in May and June instead of July and August.

Such ideas are grist for mills that grind slowly. They'll be debated, pro and con, at the party conventions this summer and, probably, again by the Legislature next year.

At the June 9 meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee recommended support of the changes. Subcommittee members announced they agreed with the governor that a direct primary vote in the precincts would insure wider participation and do away with the "ugly contests, rump delegations and bitterness" that have characterized Texas party politics all the way to the national convention.

Support from the State Committee was to be expected once a majority of its members are friendly to Governor Daniel.

Opposition is anticipated, down the line, from people who regularly participate in precinct meetings. They—or at least some of them—contend the neighborhood gatherings provide the citizenry with a sort of democratic "town hall" experience. Others object to earlier elections on the grounds they would prolong the "lame duck" period for defeated incumbents.

Defenders of the anti-precinct convention plan declare it, the next logical step in a long-range trend. Before the adoption of the Terrill election law, state officials were nominated by political parties at their state conventions. Beginning in 1907 voters were given a more direct say by the use of vote if no candidate received a primary majority. In 1918 this was amended to provide the present two-primary system.

"Code" Forthcoming

SDEC's resolutions committee also promised to meet DOT's challenge for a "code of ethics" for conducting party conventions.

The Committee said it did not feel privileged to dictate procedures from the state level, to precinct and county officials "the overwhelming majority of whom can be trusted to function... with the highest ethical considerations." But it said it would recommend a "declaration of principles which will insure... majority determination" at state conventions.

A "fair play code" has been a rallying cry for the liberal Democrats of Texas led by Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston.

Anti-Trust Inquiry

When a city or county needing supplies or equipment gets sealed bids identical to the fraction of a cent, there's a possibility the bidders got together beforehand and agreed on a jacked-up price.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says that his office has had several reports of identical bidding. He is making an intensive investigation. Suits will be filed after evidence is complete, probably within six to eight weeks.

The Dallas Morning News

Contracts under study involve sales of electric transformers, chlorine for swimming pools, and lime and oyster shell for street topping.

A conspiracy among bidders to raise prices can cost taxpayers in the multi-millions, Wilson commented.

Holes in the Net

With the state facing a sizable deficit net year, the Senate general investigating committee is seeking to discover if the state is getting all the tax money due it. Members of the State Comptroller's Department, chief collecting agency, told the committee, in effect, that the collecting net was a little skimpy for the potential catch.

They're way behind in their audits of large companies, said Houston area supervisor Harvey J. McKinzie. Reason, he said, is that low state salaries have caused the staff to dwindle from 14 in 1948 to 5 at present.

An audit, said McKinzie, sometimes results in recovery of large sums of additional tax money.

Back Again

Texas officials are making another attempt to get the Supreme Court to say who's "boss" of insurance liquidation.

Both the State Board of Insurance and the judge of the local district court handling the liquidation cases have had a hand in selecting liquidation attorneys during the past few years. In a recent test case the Supreme Court said the Board had the first responsibility for naming the attorneys and setting their salaries, but that if it failed to act, the judge could step in.

Now, the attorney general is pressing for a more definite ruling. Acting on behalf of the Insurance Department, he has asked the court to set aside a recent order by Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts raising the salaries of three liquidation attorneys.

Wilson's petition contends that, in changing the salaries of men already appointed by the Board, the judge is overstepping his authority.

All or Nothing

A farmer or rancher cannot get a refund on state gasoline taxes if he uses his "agricultural gasoline" for any other purpose.

This opinion by the attorney general was given at the request of State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who said that a farmer wanted to correct a previous claim and get a partial refund for gasoline used partly for farming.

A farmer using gasoline on which he receives a tax refund may not drive the vehicle on a public road.

Fewer Jobless

Texas Employment Commission's latest report on Texans out of work is cheerful.

For the second consecutive week, the number claiming unemployment benefits dropped substantially — from 86,528 to 83,099.

Optimism is tempered by the
